

Founded in 2003 by French dub producer and saxophonist Grégory Benzekry, Dubamix is an electro-dub project blending heavy bass, live saxophone and extensive sampling with political speeches and revolutionary songs.

Influenced by the French dub scene, protest music, conscious rap, punk-rock and classical composers, Dubamix delivers a powerful and eclectic sound moving between heavy dub, UK steppa, roots reggae, electro-cumbia and drum'n'bass, with a strong antifascist and internationalist commitment.

Since 2011, Dubamix has played over 200 shows across France and Europe, including major festivals (No Logo – FR, Fusion – DE, Alta Felicità – IT, Seasplash – HR...) as well as social centers and benefit concerts supporting strikes, political prisoners, refugees and grassroots struggles. The project has toured extensively in Italy and, in 2019, joined a Balkan tour with the anarcho-rock brass band Joke, performing in Croatia and Bosnia-Herzegovina (Mostar).

Over the past ten years, Dubamix has developed numerous collaborations with international artists, such as Dubioza Kolektiv (BH), Krak in Dub (FR-ARG), Marina P (FR-IT), Lengualerta (MX), Mal Élevé (GE), Drowning Dog (GE-USA), ... Several of these collaborations led to a collective European tour, reinforcing Dubamix's cross-border and militant live dynamic. Dubamix has also received airplay on numerous French and international radio stations.
